Comment on the following statement.

Some people think that the best type of holidays is to go to a campsite where you can stay close to nature. Others think that holidays mean comfortable conditions so you should choose a luxurious hotel to have a good rest.

What is your opinion? Do you agree with this statement?

Write 200–250 words.

All in all, it is important to mention that tastes differ and everyone makes his own decision. I think that people should have opportunities to make a choice on how to spend holidays. As for me, I prefer to spend my holidays close to nature. At the same time, I am sure that we should respect other opinions.

Some people think that it is wrong to give children toys like guns and soldiers because it makes them aggressive. Do you agree?

- 1) For all the above reasons, I would like to encourage parents to give educational toys to children. There is enough violence in the world already!
- 2) To sum up, I believe that there is nothing harmful in traditional toys like guns. As argued, children need to play and it is untrue that there is some kind of link with aggressiveness.
- 3) And my final point is that presents do not make children happy. It is wrong to claim that parents show their love with toys like guns and soldiers so this makes them acceptable.

Honesty is the best policy

Personal opinion (the 2nd paragraph)

Honesty is the best policy. (It is appropriate to tell lies in some situations).

- Express your personal opinion and give 2-3 reasons for your opinion

In my opinion, telling the truth is always beneficial. To start with, honest people are trustworthy, so they have a lot of loyal friends. Moreover, when we are truthful we do not feel stressed unlike people who often tell lies. Finally, the truth is often revealed. Thus, liars lose trust of others and feel absolutely embarrassed.

An opposing opinion (3-ий абзац)

Honesty is the best policy. (It is appropriate to tell lies in some situations).

- Express an opposing opinion and give 1-2 reasons for this opposing opinion

However, it is known that there are people who accept lies. In their view, the truth may be destructive, so in some situations it is more appropriate to tell a lie, for example, in case of a fatal disease.

Furthermore, telling the truth could cause break-up with a friend or partner.

In their view, the truth may be destructive, so in some situations it is more appropriate to tell a lie, for example, in case of a fatal disease. Furthermore, telling the truth could cause a breakup with a friend or partner.”*

Personally, I do not agree with the above opinion. Firstly, facing a problem gives more opportunities to find a solution. Secondly, a true friend is loyal and understanding. Consequently, telling the truth may lead to an argument, not a break up.

1.Schools should not only give you factual knowledge but teach life and social skills as well.

'Some people think that schools should not only give you factual knowledge, but teach life and social skills as well. Other people disagree, saying that parents should teach their kids about life and society themselves.

'I think that school should not interfere in the process of social integration. First of all, teachers may have a very biased opinion about society, so their advices may end up hurting children instead of helping them. Secondly, it is a different age, and school teachers' teenage years have already passed. Most of the time, they know nothing or have a very negative and biased opinion on modern teenagers.

One could argue that adults have more experience in life than teenagers do. Also, at times a child needs help from adults to find friends and etc.

Despite that, I still strongly believe that schools should concentrate on teaching math, history and so on, not try to shove the centuries old life-style into a new age.

In conclusion, I would like to say teenagers have the right to choose how they live their lives, and schools should not rob them of this right by explaining life in detail, at least as they see it.

2. Technical progress is always harmful for the environment

'Nowadays technical progress is one of the main components of successful country development. But it's believed that emergence of new technologies has a negative influence on the environment. Some would argue that most achievements are safe for nature'.

In my opinion, development is harmful for the environment. Firstly, most companies worry about increasing efficiency and quality of their production, but not about purity. Therefore, there are more emissions and litter from factories. Secondly, progress requires a lot of experiments with new materials and machines, which can give wrong results. Consequently, nature can be spoilt due to such mistakes'.

Other people said that most technologies are always aimed at saving the environment. New manufacturers become more and more nature conscious. And they try to reduce harmful influence on nature.

However, not every enterprise focus on usefulness and naturalness to our health. I think, the main purpose of companies improvement is getting more profit and they don't like to donate their money on keeping our planet in a good state.

To sum up, technical progress affects the environment negatively and positively.

It is better to be an one child of the family

There is common issue nowadays; how many children to have? Some people think that having an only child is enough, but others are convinced on fact that big family means right family.

In my opinion, having just one child is better. First of all, when you are an only one, your parents give all their attention and care to you. For example, they can properly control progress at school of their daughter or son. Secondly, it's better because parents don't have to invest all the money they earn in children, it means that they can spend salary on other important needs of family.

Another way of looking at this question, is that families should consist of parents and two or even more children. People who agree with this statement believe that if children have siblings then they are more sociable and friendly. Another benefit of having brothers or sisters is in support. Because of close family relationships you can always rely on your siblings and share worries about difficult situations with them.

I'm totally convinced that there are a lot of other ways of getting support. Children can ask parents, classmates or friends for advice. So, of course, having siblings is good, but we can easily replace them with other close people.

To sum up, bringing children up is one of the most important functions of family and it has to be on high level.

It is difficult to look after the environment in my country

Many people are becoming worried about the environment. To be green is very useful for environment, but it`s also difficult. Nevertheless, we should look after the environment, because we will live in this world

I think, caring for the environment is very difficult. Firstly, we live in big city. There are long roads in the town and we can`t go a long distance without a car. That is why, the car is necessity for us. Secondly, there are not enough bottle banks, therefore to deliver a waste to bottle bank don`t comfortable

However, others suppose that every man should save the environment. For example, people must separate rubbish and take to bottle bank. Moreover, they think that population should use public transport as to reduce the amount of exhaust

By the way, there are few bottle banks in our city, so go to them is very hard, because road takes a long time. Moreover, if public transport use many people it will be so uncomfortable inside

In conclusion, the environment depend on us. If we are careful to it, the ! environment will be better
